Roland I. Moore Roland Irving Moore (September 12, 1906 - April 20, 1994) was a decorated officer in the United States Army Air Forces, serving as a major general as Commander of the 28th Fighter

Group. Biography Roland I. Moore was born September 12, 1906 in Ankeny, Iowa, and was a graduate of William Penn University. In March, 1932, he received his first commission as an Air Corps pilot. He served as a pilot at Selfridge Field, Michigan from 1933 to 1937. His first staff assignment was on North Island, California from July, 1937. He was then assigned as a member of the General Staff of the U.S. Army Air Corps. As a member of the General Staff, he served in Honolulu, Hawaii, from 1938 to 1939, and at Wright Field, Ohio from 1939 to 1940. He spent the next four years with active duty with the 28th Pursuit Squadron at Chennault Field, Louisiana. During the Second World War, Moore was assigned to the 11th Pursuit Squadron as commander from February 8, 1941 to August 15, 1942. He was then assigned to the 1st Air Depot where he served as Chief of the Government Inspection Group, from September 22, 1943 to January

15, 1944. He next was assigned to Westover Field, Massachusetts to serve as Assistant Director of Technical Services Division, Army Air Corps, in August, 1944. In this capacity he oversaw the development of the installation at Westover Field. Moore was transferred to the European Theater and assigned to Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Air Force for service with the U.S. First Army and the U.S. Ninth Army. Moore was then assigned as Commanding General, 2d Air Regiment, with United States Army Air Forces in Europe (USAAF), commanding the 2d Air Regiment, whose mission was to develop, test, and equip the various units. When the 2d Air Regiment was transferred to the United States Fifth Army, he was assigned as commanding general of the 3d Tactical Support Group, with which he served 1cdb36666d
