Our programs also take in vital revenues from the sale of tickets and merchandise. The Players Association The NLPA is the body charged by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) with the legal issues relating to amateurism in college athletics. The Association's legal department is assisted by two notable experts in sports law, Dan Schoenfeld, of Cleveland, and Michael McCann, from Seattle. The Executive Committee The Executive Committee is composed of 8 individuals appointed by the elected Board of Directors. The Executive Committee provides strategic direction and oversight for the activities of the League. It includes the President/CEO, Treasurer, Secretary, Marketing and Public Relations Committee, Board of Directors, Director of Concussion Programs, Director of Player and Coach Welfare, and Director of Insurance. The Board The Board of Directors is composed of 35 individuals representing teams from every NAIA division. The Board is responsible for appointing the Executive Committee, approving all budgets and annual and long term plans, and appointing the teams to enter the NAIA Tournament in March. The Annual Conference Tournament In 2009, the NAIA announced a $2.4 million NAIA Men's Basketball Championship at the Men's Basketball Championships at the CenturyLink Center. The NAIA men's basketball tournament will be held on the first weekend in March. The winner of the NAIA conference championship will also automatically qualify for the NCAA Men's Division II Basketball Championship tournament. As previously, the winner of the College World Series of the NAIA baseball tournament will qualify for the NCAA Division I Baseball Championship as the host school. For the NCAA Conference Championship, the winner of the NAIA tournament will host a first and second round (if necessary) while the Top 16 teams host the quarterfinals. The winner of the tournament receives the Commissioner's Trophy, the Fannie Mae-NAIA National Championship Trophy, a championship ring, a banner and free tickets to the national championship game. Q: How do I select only the content of an element that matches a certain condition? So I have some HTML like this: Lorem Ipsum is simply dummy text of the printing and typesetting industry. Lorem Ipsum has been the industry's standard dummy text ever since the 1500s, when an unknown printer took a galley of type and scrambled it to make a type specimen book. Lorem Ipsum is simply dummy text of the printing and typesetting industry. Lorem Ipsum has been the industry's standard dummy text ever since the 1500s, when an unknown printer took a galley of type and scrambled it to make a type specimen book. If I had access to a template I'd do something like this to give me only the "things" that are not in a secondary anchor tag: `#content.template { div[class!="thing"] { display: none; } }` But I'm using ASP.NET Web Forms. How can I do the same thing? A: There is no CSS selector that would allow you to do that, so you'll have to do this with jQuery: `$(function () { $('a').each(function() { if($(this).attr('href')!= '/foo/bar') { $(this).find('.thing').hide(); } }); });` With ASP.NET Web Forms, you can use the `ClientScriptManager.RegisterForEventValidation` property, and make sure you have added the following to the section of your page :
